If you can make your way to Greenville, SC from September 11th through the 14th, you have an opportunity to attend Euphoria, a world-class food and wine event. Restaurateur Carl Sobocinski and singer-songwriter Edwin McCain are the headliners of this 4-day event that includes wine tastings, seminars, cooking demonstrations, multi-course dinners and live musical performances.

A number of well-known chefs from around the country will be in attendance to host the event, and all proceeds will be donated to "Local Boys Do Good," a non-profit organization started by Carl Sobocinski and Edwin McCain. The organization provides support to various upstate South Carolina charities that focus their efforts on hunger, health and education.

Here is a sampling of just a few of the upcoming events on the schedule:

Friday, September 12th ~

Taste of the South: Several of the area's finest restaurants will feature a tasting of traditional Southern dishes along with live music by Edwin McCain and friends.

Saturday, September 13th ~

Food, Wine and Music Seminars: Guest chefs, both local and visiting, along with master sommeliers will conduct a series of culinary demonstrations and wine seminars in Greenville's beautiful downtown park throughout the day. Live musical performances will complement the event.

Sunday, September 14th ~

Culinary Cook-off: In this event hosted by celebrity chef Tyler Florence, local and visiting chefs will compete in a series of live cooking demonstrations.
